Greco-Italian War Threatens Over Massacre

Italian Government Demands Satisfaction For Murder Of Representatives FLEET ORDERED TO PREPARE
Interallied Council Protests Against Outrage In Cable To Greece

Athens—It is understood here that Greece is not disposed to accept the humiliating conditions imposed by the Italian government in its note demanding satisfaction for the killing of five Italian members of the Greco-Albanian frontier delimitation mission. In the event a deadlock is reached in settling the affair Greece, it is further understood, will propose to submit the question to the league of nations.

The Greek government is disposed to express its profound sorrow over the massacre and to indemnify the families of the Italian officials who were murdered on Greek territory.

ITALIAN DEMANDS
London—Reuter's Rome correspondent says that the Italian demands on Greece include the following: "A solemn funeral shall be given to the victims of the massacre in the Catholic cathedral in Athens in the presence of all members of the Greek government."

"Honors are to be rendered to the Italian fleet by the Greek ships of war at Piraeus and to an Italian naval division which will be sent to that port especially for the purpose. The Hellenic fleet is to fire salutes of 21 guns, and while the salute is being given the Italian flag must be flown at the mastsheads of the Greek vessels."

The Italian government note to Greece demanded that the Greeks pay an indemnity of fifty million lire, salute the Italian fleet, and punish the Greeks responsible for the assassinations. An answer was required within 24 hours.

The law exempts children and participants in religious, historical, educational, or dramatic demonstrations, and persons going to and from masquerade parties.

BOAT FOUNDERS IN HARBOR AT STOCKBRIDGE

Young Son Clashed In Father's Arms When Bodies Are Recovered

The bodies of Jacob Jacobs, 45, and his two sons, Jacob Jacobs, 14, and John Jacobs, 5, were recovered in about 20 feet of water at Stockbridge harbor late Wednesday afternoon. The three had been fishing in the harbor. No one saw the accident and no one knows how long the bodies were in the water. The father had his five-year-old son clasped tightly in his arms when the bodies were recovered.

Jacobs and his children were seen in the boat, which apparently was anchored about 400 feet from shore, shortly before 3 o'clock. An hour later someone noticed that the boat was capsized and that hats were floating on the water. Drugging of the harbor started at once and in an hour or so the bodies were recovered.

Two theories are advanced as the cause of the accident. One is that the boat was tipped over while the anchor was being lifted and the other is that the boy caught a fish and in his excitement fell overboard and the father and brother were drowned trying to save him.

A widow and six children survive. The oldest child is about 16 and the youngest is 8 months.

COOLIDGE NOT YET READY FOR 1924 CAMPAIGN

President Requests Public To Stop Political Surmise At Present

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1923, by The Post Pub. Co.
Washington—President Coolidge would like to have "political speculation" taboed so far as he is concerned. This information divulged in the last 24 hours was not specially related to the many utterances of men in the administration itself who have been publicly booming Mr. Coolidge for the 1924 presidential nomination, but the inference being drawn is that Mr. Coolidge would like it just as well if he were not made the center of political discussion at the moment.

Nothing, of course, has come from the White House to indicate that Mr. Coolidge is averse to winning the nomination. But there are embarrassing moments to the presidential job if ten months before the national convention, the chief executive is even passively a candidate, especially while his own appointees issue "public statements" predicting his active candidacy.

Mr. Coolidge has in all probability been advised that the best policy he could possibly play with reference to 1924 is to play no politics at all. Since he has taken the oath of office there has been no concrete evidence that he is playing the political game. Many of the federal office holders, however, have declared themselves for Coolidge and the organization of Coolidge-for-president clubs is proceeding just as if the men in the White House had given his consent.

ADVICE TO PRESS
The word direct from the administration, therefore, that the president would like to be spared political speculation is as much a bit of advice to the press as it is to the well-intentioned friends who have been extolling the virtues of the president. Old political observers are rather amused by the spectacle of federal appointees running to the band wagon of the incumbent especially when the latter hasn't been in the White House long enough to demonstrate whether he is the best candidate the party can offer. The coming session of congress will answer the whole business partially when it is seen whether the executive can exercise and influence with a legislative body in which the

MRS. OESTERREICH IS NEAR COLLAPSE

Doctors Advise Release On Bail Of Woman Held In California Jail

By Associated Press
Los Angeles, Calif.—Judge Sidney Reece of the Superior court was to decide Thursday whether Mrs. Walburga Oesterreich would be admitted to bail pending her trial for the murder of her husband, Fred Oesterreich, wealthy apron manufacturer of Los Angeles and Milwaukee. Her attorneys presented to the court the report of two physicians who said Mrs. Oesterreich suffered from "gout and enlarged tonsils, and was in a highly nervous condition, bordering on collapse."

CUBA CENSORSHIP IS NOT CONFIRMED

By Associated Press
Washington—Although American officials Thursday could not discuss the imposition by Cuba of an obscenity censorship on cablegrams of a "political significance between the island and the United States," it was regarded in unofficial circles in close touch with Cuban affairs, as directly due to the agitation there against certain government legislative measures.

Body Of Greek Princess Will Be Sent To U.S.

OPERATORS OPENLY HOSTILE
Warring Factions Agree On Terms For Maintenance In Case Of Strike

London—The family of the late Princess Anastasia of Greece, formerly Mrs. William B. Leeds, who died Wednesday night, was making plans Thursday to send the body to New York.

Some of the members of the Greek royal family favored burial in Athens, but it was held that the present political situation there, which has already resulted in the exile of Greek royalty, including Prince Christopher, Anastasia's husband, would preclude this step.

Moreover, the princess herself before she died, expressed the wish that she might rest with her father and mother in the mausoleum which she built in Woodlawn cemetery, New York, N. Y.

Memorial services will be held in one of the Greek orthodox churches in London before the body is sent to the United States and prayers will be offered in the churches of Greece.

Hundreds of messages of sympathy from relatives and friends in all parts of the world, especially the United States, were received by Prince Christopher Thursday. Almost every royal house in Europe tendered its condolences.

It is thought by friends that the princess left an ample sum to enable her bereaved husband to live comfortably.

NASH MOTORS MAY MOVE TO SOUTH BEND

President Of Firm Says Unfair Laws Make Preparedness Necessary

Kenosha—Kenosha was startled Thursday morning by a message from South Bend, Ind., stating that an effort was being made to have the plants of Nash Motors company, located in Kenosha and Milwaukee, removed to South Bend. It is admitted that Vice-President Walter H. Alfred has been to South Bend to look over the situation. Charles W. Nash, president of the company, said Thursday morning.

"With conditions as they are in Wisconsin just at present we always want to keep an anchor to the windward, and if the conditions become impossible for us on account of unfair legislation to industry, we want some place to go. We have no immediate plans for removing these plants but we are willing to say that several cities have offered plants to us if we will come and take them. We are closely watching the situation in Wisconsin and this is about all that I would want to say at the present time."

dience, which remained unusually quiet throughout the program. Had the audience been less courteous many of the lines would have been lost.

Early in the evening the grand stands were well filled and hundreds of people sat on the heavy paper which had been so thoughtfully provided to cover the grass. The ease with which hundreds of cars were handled in the baseball park is another thing which was notable.

Charles E. Raught is general chairman of the pageant with William F. Ashe as assistant chairman. Lester Bronzel as secretary and Richard McCarty, John McCoy, Mrs. F. W. Grogan, R. M. Radach, John Timmers, J. O. Posson, Jacob Stoecker, Edward Hase and V. Berens as members of the general committee. William F. Ashe is chairman of the pageant committee. Mrs. Edward Zekind and T. Lindstrom are joint chairmen of the costume committee. Richard McCarty is chairman of the grounds committee. Adolph Mills has charge of the music. Archie Crevier is chairman of the car committee. V. Berens had charge of the advertising. John Dittler was chairman of the properties. J. O. Posson was chairman of the lighting and staging, and Miss Roberta Corcoran was chairman of the dancing committee.

The book of the pageant was written by Thomas Wood Stevens. It is doubtful whether it will ever have a more sympathetic interpretation because to the people of Kaukauna, their city is the heart of the valley. With its great scenic beauty, it has great possibilities for community development in dramatics of this sort.

Mrs. L. R. Reuhs, who was called to St. Paul ten days ago by the death of two sisters, Mrs. Andrew Martineau and Miss Margaret Mahn, drowned in the sinking of a gasoline launch in the Mississippi river, is expected home the latter part of the week.

Nine bodies were recovered and two public funerals of the victims were held Saturday, one from a St. Paul Catholic church and the other from a Minneapolis Lutheran church.

Practically the entire police force of St. Paul and Minneapolis assisted in searching for the bodies, several of which were recovered a mile and a half from where the launch sank.

The accident was due to the launch striking the stump of a tree which tore off the rear end.

Tourists In Wheeled Home, Visit In City

What is claimed to be the last word in do luxe, palace, Pullman or whatever other name can be applied to traveling residential vans, made its appearance in Appleton Wednesday.

It was the campers automobile of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Beauchamp, Chicago, who with Mr. and Mrs. Edward Cavert, stopped here Wednesday evening to visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Cavert.

The car was equipped as a kitchen, dining room, boudoir, sleeping porch, and musical conservatory. A combination radiophone and phonograph furnish the travelers amusement on their way. They also had a set of electric chimes attached to the storage battery and operated by means of a push-button keyboard.

Running water was supplied through a pressure tank containing 36 gallons of water. Cooking is done on a gasoline stove built in to order. The beds are built in like Pullman berths. The car also had compartments for baggage, cupboards and refrigerator. A motor boat was carried on the roof. The party is returning to Chicago from a trip to the northern woods. Last week the party was in New York where such cars are considered more of a novelty than in this region. Next week they will drive to the Pacific coast.

COOLIDGE NOT READY FOR 1924 CAMPAIGN

balance of power is held by the so-called radical wing of the Republican party.

RETAINS FREE HAND
Mr. Coolidge has taken occasion to intimate what his policy toward congress will be. He will hesitate to express an opinion about a bill while it is pending. He will not threaten a veto or promise his approval to anything if he can help it, preferring to let congress act in its wisdom and permit him to exercise his constitutional prerogative of signing or vetoing at the proper time. This theory of the executive precludes wielding the big stick of Roosevelt or exercising the moral suasion of Wilson. It means a free hand to the executive till the bill actually reaches him. While this method is unquestionably the most desirable that could be followed, it doesn't always work out that an executive can remain silent in the face of inquiries from members of congress as to what his attitude would be toward a bill if passed. Many measures are side-tracked at the slightest gesture of executive disapproval and time is saved that way.

HOPE FOR BONUS
In all probability the president means to apply his policy to major questions, such as for instance, the soldiers' bonus. Mr. Coolidge will not follow the precedent of President Harding who announced that he would veto a bonus bill unless the sales tax were enacted to finance it. Mr. Coolidge will wait for congress to pass the bill and if the means of financing the bonus have been devised he will sign the measure. Advocates of the bonus are sure the bill now can be financed and they are hopeful of executive support when it is needed.

The slogan of the Coolidge administration is caution. No commitments in favor of or against anything will be given until absolutely required. Congress will have a hard time guessing the man in the White House.

STREET CAR MEN IN DETROIT GET RAISE

By Associated Press
Detroit—Salary increases amounting to $14,040 a year and affecting 33 executives and office employees of Detroit's municipally owned street railway will be permitted to stand, William J. Nagel, city controller, announced Thursday after a conference with Mayor Frank Doremus. All other increases contemplated, however, must be submitted by the street railway commission to the mayor for his approval, Mr. Nagel said.

Announcement was made Wednesday that salary increases to officers and employees, totalling $200,000 a year had been decided upon by the street railway commission. Members of the commission informed acting Mayor Lodge that there had been no effort at secrecy in making the increases, but that the commission had neglected to send copies of its minutes to the mayor for his examination.

PINCHOT COAL PLAN FAVORED BY UNIONS

men, engineers and maintenance men will be allowed to stay at work after Sept. 1, even if suspension of mining, now ordered, becomes effective. The men in the classifications named are needed to prevent the mines from flooding and caving in during periods of idleness.

By the terms of the agreement, men in the maintenance service now working 12 hours per day will receive a wage adjustment of 23 cents per day less for working eight hours than they now receive for working 12 hours, and will be paid overtime rates if they exceed eight hours in service.

Men on nine and ten hour shifts will work the same hours that they now put in, but will receive a wage increase which is estimated to be $1.15 per day for those now receiving the lowest rates, with greater amounts proportionately for those who are now employed at higher wage rates.

In addition any general increase in wages granted will be made retroactive to Sept. 1, for the benefit of all maintenance workers who are held in service.

SAME AS IN PAST

John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine workers, said the principles followed in working out the price adjustments necessary to establishing the eight hour day for the maintenance workers were the same as have been established in past settlements in the mining region where the eight hour day has been granted to workers formerly employed for longer periods.

The signing of the agreement was a last minute action of the operators' policy committees representatives before departing for Philadelphia to meet with their associates to consider Governor Pinchot's proposals for settling the main controversy in the anthracite region. Failure to keep the mine pumps going for even a single day after the suspension, it was said, would seriously damage anthracite mines and equipment.

1919. In the five years from 1920 it probably will continue to drop, whereas in this total ten-year period it should have made great gains.

It is time Wisconsin paused and commenced to take stock of super-progressivism. At the last legislature the politicians wanted to boost taxes still higher, wanted to load it still heavier onto industry. The extra millions they have squandered the last five years are not enough. There must be more. And if we get the pure North Dakota brand of progressivism the millions dissipated at Madison will mount faster than ever.

What farmer in Wisconsin is getting better prices for his products as a result of this heroic dose of progressivism and extravagant state government? How many silos has it built for him? How many mortgages has it paid off? How many dairy herds has it created? When does he expect this ever-fattening golden goose at Madison to lay the golden eggs for him? Isn't it about time it commenced to deliver if it is ever going to? How much longer are the farmers of Wisconsin going to be deluded by the fake promises of politicians that they will prosper them in return for their votes?

Super-progressivism may be all right to pound the table about and to swoon in ecstasy over, but as a dollars and cents proposition it is costing Wisconsin a terrific lot of money and putting an awful financial and industrial load on its back. Is super-progressivism really worth an increase in taxes of $15,000,000 in five years? Think it over. It will soon be tax-paying time again.

What are you getting out of super-progressivism in Wisconsin? What is anybody getting out of it, except the politicians?

LLOYD GEORGE COMING

The king of England's most famous and influential subject is due to visit the United States in September or October of this year—his first trip.

No man in the British empire is better known this side the water, than David Lloyd George. "the little Welshman" who filled a place in the warring world of 1914-1918 almost as outstanding as the place of "the little corporal" a century before.

Lloyd George says it has been his wish to come and see us; and though he has always been too energetically engaged in the bettering of the conditions of the English workmen or in fighting of wars to get away, his failure—which under the circumstances does him credit—has not prevented his understanding us. He is probably Europe's sincerest appreciator of the American influence and the American spirit.

"I want to go to America," he told a friend recently. "because the Americans are teaching the world how to do things." He has sought at every opportunity to persuade us that we should be in the councils of Europe these perilous days instead of permitting our prestige and our ideas to remain fallow.

No better emissary of this viewpoint, and no better ambassador for British-American friendship could be accredited. Lloyd George not only is a great thinker, but a marvelously brilliant and inspiring speaker—a part unfortunately lacking in so many British writers and public men who have stood upon our rostrums. He is not only a leading mind but one of the most remarkable personalities in all history.

Though his writings, syndicated to millions of American readers, have brought his ideas close home to this country as he could not possibly advance them in a speaking tour, the opportunity to see and talk to such a man—Lloyd George in person—will be a richer privilege than to read him. As England welcomed Roosevelt, our statesman nearest his type, so the United States will welcome the war premier of Britain.

Difference between movies and vaudeville is in movies the audience does the talking.

POISONOUS AND HARMLESS SNAKES

As this is the season for the woods and fields let us consider the snake. Besides the rattler there are only three varieties of snakes capable of poisoning victims of their bites in the United States. They are all easily recognized.

The coral snake is found only in a restricted area in the southern states and is distinguished by its brilliant markings.

The water moccasin and the copperhead are both "pit vipers" that is they have a characteristic pit or depression in the head, between the eye and the nostril, triangular shaped head, with massive muscular development of the jaw.

Venomous snakes are thicker in proportion to their length than harmless snakes and their surface appears rougher. The pupil of the eye is elliptical, like a cat's, instead of round as in the ordinary blacksnake. The blacksnake should not be killed, because it is an enemy and destroyer of venomous snakes and vermin. The common water snake, erroneously called "water moccasin," is equally harmless and useful to man; it is not a genuine moccasin, lacking the pit and the elliptical pupil of the poisonous snake. The puff adder is another harmless variety.

The forked tongue of a snake has nothing to do with its poisonous character. The stinging or bite is of course made with the fangs or long teeth in the upper jaw. Through the fang a canal carries the venom from the venom sac or gland at the foot of the fang. The force of the strike squirts the venom from the sac into the tissues of the victim, a veritable hypodermic injection of poison.

Symptoms following snake bite are much the same from all three poisonous varieties named. Slight pain is felt at first, but the pain gradually increases until it becomes very severe after a few hours. The tissues surrounding the wound become swollen and discolored with extravasated blood under the skin. At this time the patient grows weak and irregular, cold sweats, faintness, nausea and collapse follow. If the patient survives 48 hours, delirium, coma or other general disorganization may come on; or, more commonly, recovery ensues slowly.

The most vicious delusion is that whiskey is an antidote for snake poisoning. Whiskey given in heroic doses contributes to more fatalities than snake bites do.

The proper treatment is immediate sucking of the wound, free incision to encourage bleeding, or even cutting out the tissue for an inch around the fang marks. Immediate application of a caustic or a red hot iron, is the next best remedy. The application and if possible the injection hypodermically about the wound of a 5 per cent solution of potassium permanganate in water is a good remedy to destroy the poison. The application of ammonia is likewise useful. The internal administration of adrenalin-solution, in doses of five to 20 drops every hour or two, is one of the best remedies; this powerful agent is more effective when injected directly into the veins. As a general stimulant atropine sulfate may be given, 1-100 grain every three hours to an adult. Serum therapy is not yet established upon a practicable basis, though it has great possibilities.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

A Congressman's Sand

I read in a newspaper where a congressman found a remedy for indigestion, constipation, etc., in the shape of fine sand. I wrote him at once but got no answer. Later I met a man who said he had learned from an old woman to use sand for this purpose—and from a certain spring. I suppose it would be wise to bake the sand to free it from any organic life, and to give it in capsules.

Answer—Maybe the congressman hadn't the sand to answer. The last man I knew who "discovered" the remedial value of sand took a teaspoonful once or twice a day, felt fine for a time, then died with cancer of the bowel. Sand may be excellent for a chicken's digestion, or for a goat's or a congressman's, but I advise you to leave it alone.

Jap Women Like
Gay Costumes

(G. Hulschinder, in Vossische Zeitung, Berlin.)

The men of Japan wear European clothes, with a strong preference for bright colors and white tropical clothing, or they wear dark colored kimonos. Workmen and coolies go half naked, with swimming trunks or even a loin cloth and an open jacket over the body, even this being occasionally dispensed with. The little flat straw hat, much like the one that Europeans wear, is a headress for all classes of society and is worn indifferently with European dress, with kimonos, and with practically nothing at all. The richsha coolies have great straw structures on their heads that look like gigantic inverted bowls. Even tropical helmets are coming more and more into fashion during the summer heat.

But the clothes of the women and the children! They have all remained true to the ancient ways and the real Japanese costume: the kimono and the obi, or artistically adjusted girdle, with a big bow in the rear and a wonderfully constructed high headdress. On their feet they wear white stockings which have a little extra compartment for the great toe and which rarely come above the ankle. Wooden sandals on two high blocks of wood like stilts, provided with a strap for the foot, complete their footwear. When there is a great deal of dust or a great deal of mud—and either one or the other prevails in Tokyo—these stilt-like arrangements really have uses of their own, for they keep the feet from contact with the ground itself. But the pigeon-toed gait that they necessitate is ungraceful and the regular click-clack of the wooden sandals with which the streets resound can almost drive one to distraction.

Q. What system is followed in the numbering of pool cotton? A. W. A.

A. The numbering of cotton thread is based on the size of the yarn from which the thread is twisted. The finished thread was originally all 3-ply and carried the yarn size, that is to say, three strands of size 50 yarns were twisted together and called No. 50 thread. When 6-ply or Six-Cord came into use, it was decided not to change the numbering of the thread, but to use six strands of yarn size 100 to make the No. 50 thread.

THE CRIME OF HAVING CHILDREN

Editor, Post-Crescent, I read with a great deal of interest the article appearing in your paper under the date of Aug. 28th, regarding the necessity of building new homes.

For the last two weeks I have been looking for a house for a young man coming into our employ. We had no trouble finding houses; they seemed to be plentiful, but the first question we were asked was, "Have you any children?" It is the young man's fortune to have four of the finest children that ever walked the streets of Appleton or any other city, but when he would inform the landlords that he had four, the answer would be, "No, we do not care to rent our house to a man with children." Oh what a crime it is to have children, according to the way some people see it. A man with a family has no right to rent a house. In all the houses we looked at he was asked but once if he had any dogs or cats, that once not matter, it is the children that are not wanted.

It was but yesterday I went to see a house in the east part of town on Franklin street that I thought I might be interested in myself. As usual, the first question, "how many children?" When I told the owner I had one boy four years old he threw his hands in the air and shook his head. "No," he says, "I do not rent that house to any one that has a boy." Can you beat it. What a crime I have committed by having that boy. This man probably was never a boy in his life, if he was it has been so long ago he has forgotten that in order to have men we must have boys.

As you come into the city from either direction you see a sign, "You Will Like Appleton." Why not put right under that sign, "If you have children you are not welcome." This would save many a man the humiliation of being told he cannot rent a house because he has children. It would also save these people the trouble of even having men of this kind ask them if he can rent their house.

My friend, this is a deplorable condition that is existing in Appleton today. We do not need new homes any worse than we need people to rent what homes there are to men who are fortunate enough to have families.

We build schools, playgrounds and all other necessary things for children but when it comes to renting a house for them to live in, that's a horse of another color. School will soon be starting and this young man is anxious to move his children here so they can go to school but so far has been very unsuccessful in finding a place. Can we expect to build a city with conditions as this existing? No, not any more than we can expect to drain Lake Michigan.

I trust some action will get under way to overcome the condition that is now existing in our city that we are so anxious to see grow as our sister cities are doing.

GOURAUD, HOME, PRAISES AMERICA

French General Who Visited Appleton Says He Was Overwhelmed By Kindness

By Associated Press
Havre—Gen. H. J. E. Gouraud returned home on Wednesday after his tour of the United States convinced that the friendship America has for France is as deep as it was during the war. His first act upon landing was to cable his thanks and lasting affection to his comrades of the Rainbow division.

In an interview he described the emotion he felt when he greeted his American comrades of the great battle of July, 1918, the turning point of the war.

FAVOR RUHR SEIZURE
Throughout the United States, he said, not only were the veterans of the war, but people of all classes so enthusiastic that he was overwhelmed by their kindness.

Many times the subject of the Ruhr was brought up to him by Americans. He added, and he found that their keen sense of justice demanded that those who had destroyed should repair.

He asserted that he had tried to impress on Americans that there was no thought of annexation in the minds of France. Premier Poincare's speeches, he thought, must dispel all suspicions that the unity of France was to be destroyed by annexing 5,000,000 Germans.

Gen. Gouraud said he had been told much about German propaganda in the United States, but he noted only 5,000 persons attended a vaunted Germanophile meeting at Buffalo.

The general, however, evidently preferred to speak about the beauty

Donaldson of Kaukauna will be heard. He has been ordered by Judge Edgar V. Werner to show cause why he has failed to pay alimony to his divorced wife.

of America—the magnificent "palace" of Washington, the city hall of San Francisco, and the wide, tree guarded avenues and the green spots in the cities with the richness and taste of their residences.

He was enthusiastic about the Yosemite valley and the Grand Canyon of Colorado.

STORES CLOSE ON FRIDAY SO WORKERS CAN ATTEND PICNIC

Fireworks Display Arranged For Saturday Night—Want Business Stopped

Kaukauna—All business places in this city will close at noon Friday to give employees an opportunity of attending the municipal picnic at the tourist camping grounds. An effort also has been made to have business suspended at 6 o'clock Saturday evening as the fireworks, which will be one of the best features of the homecoming celebration, will be set off on that evening. A few proprietors however, do not wish to close until 8 o'clock at the earliest and as there is no merchants' organization to settle the question, nothing definite has been done.

On Saturday evening all road traffic will be kept away from the Lavett bridge owing to the danger of overcrowding the structure while the fireworks display takes place. The bridge will be open to pedestrians, however.

The fireworks will be set off on the river near the dam. The electrical department of the city began Wednesday to build necessary structure for the display.

OLD TIMERS ARE GUESTS OF ROTARY AT LUNCHEON

Kaukauna—Members of the general committee of the homecoming and pageant and as many "old timers" as officials were able to round up were entertained at the weekly luncheon of the Rotary club in Hotel Kaukauna Wednesday noon. Approximately 100 people were present. Dr. C. D. Boyd acted as toastmaster. Every oldtimer present was asked to talk.

PAGEANT TO BE SHOWN TONIGHT AND ON FRIDAY

Committee Determined To Have Three Presentations Of Historical Drama

Kaukauna—The pageant, which was postponed Tuesday evening because of rain will be continued until Friday evening. No change will be made in the rest of the program for that day, however. The pageant will begin at the usual time, 8 o'clock. A dance at 10 o'clock will be held in the auditorium with music by G. B. Horst's orchestra of 10 pieces. The dance will be held according to schedule, although it is probable it will not begin until one hour later than the scheduled time.

There was no sign of rain in the sky Wednesday and weather reports indicate the rest of the week will be clear. If it does rain again before Friday, the pageant undoubtedly will be given on Saturday evening also.

The homecoming committee has gone to an enormous expense to put on the homecoming and pageant and the presentation of the latter is about all which will bring an income to balance the expenditures.

In spite of the rain, which stopped here about 7:30 hundreds of people went to the grounds. A group of people in cars from Green Bay arrived here only to be disappointed and inquiries were received from several cities.

RUPTURE, SHIELD EXPERT HERE

MEINHARDT, WELL KNOWN IN THIS SPECIALTY, CALLED TO APPLETON

E. J. Meinhardt, the well known Expert from Chicago, will personally be at the Sherman Hotel, Appleton, Wis., on Monday and Tuesday only, Sept. 3rd and 4th.

Mr. Meinhardt says "The Vacuum Rupture Shield" will not only hold the Rupture perfectly, but will contract, the opening in ten days on the average case—usually giving instantaneous relief withstanding all strain regardless of the size and location of the Rupture. This instrument is highly indorsed for producing results in the United States and foreign countries without the use of surgery, medical treatment, prescriptions or injections.

Caution: Ruptured persons should beware of old-style trusses with understraps. These trusses usually place the pad on the lump and not on the rupture opening. This often causes serious trouble resulting in strangulation and necessitating a surgical operation. Mr. Meinhardt will be glad to demonstrate free to all who call at the hotel from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m., the unusually rapid results produced by "The Vacuum Shield." The largest and most difficult cases, those following operations, are especially desired. Business demands prevent stopping at any other place in this section and he will be here for one date only.

Notice: Do not write asking to be fitted by mail as this is impossible. Every case must be seen personally. If interested, you must call at this hotel on the above date. adv.

HONOR LABOR ON ITS DAY, BLAINE URGES

Governor's Proclamation Says Americans Honor Producers of Wealth

By Associated Press
Madison—Governor Blaine Thursday issued a proclamation, urging that the people of Wisconsin observe Labor Day, Sept. 3, as a holiday. Following is the proclamation in full:
"In this land of freedom, labor has achieved a dignity never before accorded it in any country of the world. Labor was synonymous with slavery in ancient times; but we have recognized its economic and its spiritual worth, and we have made it an honored custom in the United States to set aside one day in each year in commemoration of labor.
"Our state provides that the first Monday in September shall be observed as a legal holiday to be known as Labor Day. On that day all work ceases, all offices are closed, and the people leave their labors to seek rest and recreation. On that day all pay tribute to labor, giving it the recognition due it as the cornerstone on which is built the happiness and prosperity of this country.
"We Americans love to honor those who have earned our sincere respect—the producers of wealth rather than the consumers of wealth. Working men in Wisconsin are wisely protected in their right to organize for the betterment of their own conditions. Such organizations may use all lawful means to gain their ends. The laws of the state incorporate many of the things for which labor organization stand.
"This state has been remarkably free from disturbances, and has weathered periods of depression far better than any other state.
"Because this policy has proved its worth, and in accordance with the statutes,
"THEREFORE, as governor of the state of Wisconsin, I, John J. Blaine, do hereby designate Monday, the third day of September, nineteen hundred and twenty-three as LABOR DAY and I do recommend that it be observed as a holiday throughout the state of Wisconsin."

Sheboygan — Smith Bros. Greater United Shows, which appeared at Sheboygan county fair and later at Ozaukee county exposition, was billed to open this week at Lakoslew, where the Kennedy shows were located when Arizona Charley stabbed and killed aged Albert Henry.
The latter incident left a sentiment against carnivals and the town of Sheboygan, which includes Lakoslew, just west of the Sheboygan city limits, decided that the Smith aggregation should not have a permit. So the date was canceled.
The remains of the old man were laid in the potter's field, at the expense of Sheboygan county.

RAINBOW GARDENS APPEALS DAMAGE CLAIM TO COURT

Industrial Commission's Award
To New Year's Eve Guard
Is Contested

An appeal from the decision of the Wisconsin Industrial commission with reference to the claim for compensation filed by Levi Levizow of Stephentown has just been filed in Dane county circuit court by the Rainbow Gardens Corporation of Appleton.

Levizow, who was a deputy under former Sheriff P. G. Schwartz, was engaged by the Rainbow Gardens Corporation as an attendant on New Year's eve and was instructed to permit only persons with reservations to enter the gardens.

Four young men from Kaukauna applied for admission and having no reservations were turned down by Levizow. They then attempted to push him and in the fracas that followed Levizow suffered a fractured leg and was in a hospital for 18 weeks.

Levizow filed a claim for compensation against the Rainbow Gardens and his hearing came before the Wisconsin Industrial commission on its recent visit to Appleton.

The commission found that Levizow was not there as a deputy sheriff, but as an employee of the Rainbow Gardens corporation and was entitled to compensation and reimbursement for necessary medical expenses.

The commission made its award on Aug. 15, allowing the former deputy sheriff 16 weeks disability and all doctor bills, besides reserving the right of a permanent disability award.

The drivers were notified to appear at the police station where the desk sergeant explained to them the nature and purpose of the traffic regulations and warned them to heed them in the future.

HIS BETTER HALF

Tuesday evening at 8:30 as I was sitting in my car that was parked in front of the armory I noticed a Ford touring car parked next to me with all the side curtains on. In about five minutes I saw a lady and gentleman come down the street, open the door of the car and both get in. After several attempts to get the car started the man got out and tried to crank it. After trying without success for some time he said something to his companion and she got out, gave the crank a couple of jerks and the car started. They both got in and drove away, much to the amusement of several boy scouts, who were standing in front of the armory. G. A. F.

EXPLOSIVES ARE OFFERED FARMERS AT BARGAIN RATES

County Agricultural Agent Arranges With U. S. For Supply Of Sodatol

Farmers in Outagamie-co can now secure left-over war explosive, "Sodatol," which is made over in sticks like dynamite, by applying for them to Robert Amundsen, county agricultural agent.

This material was transferred by congress to the bureau of public roads, United States department of agriculture. If enough orders are received for a carload in this country, a car will be ordered to a central point, otherwise it will be shipped either from Green Bay or Shawano, in which case the farmer pays the freight when it arrives from that point to his local station.

To avoid speculation, each order is confined to not more than 1,000 pounds. Fifty pounds is the minimum that can be ordered, and it is sold only to actual farmers. It is packed in 50-pound boxes and is handled just like dynamite with the use of an ordinary cap. It has about the same strength as 40 per cent dynamite. It is no more dangerous than dynamite, but like dynamite, should be respected.

The cost of the material is $5.95 a hundred pounds in carload lots. Money orders or checks with applications must be sent to the county agent. The material is expected in time for this fall's work in stump and stone removal.

Merchant Promoters Guarantee At Least $100 To Women's Organization

Appleton Womens club will receive the net profits from the autumn style revue which will be offered in Lawrence Memorial chapel by six co-operating Appleton merchants on Sept. 12, 13 and 14. ## Many Tell of Being Made "Young" Again By a Remarkable New Medical Discovery

Amazing Reports of Renewed Vigor and Animation, Follow Nation Wide Tests of a Compound.

Reports of being made "young" again by the recently discovered korex compound continue to pour into the offices of the compound's American distributors. Following nationwide tests of the compound, hundreds of persons write that they have been "rejuvenated," revitalized and invigorated by this important scientific discovery. Typical of these reports is one from D. W. Wood of Louisiana, who is past 60 years of age.

"The compound has brought me back to as good, healthy physical condition as I enjoyed at 35," he writes. "I am apparently as supple as at 25 and my eyesight is better than for years. I would not take $5,000 for what the compound has done for me."

Thomas J. Glascock, 75, a prominent citizen of Kansas, says three weeks' use of the new discovery made him "young" again.

"I feel like I did at 35," he writes, "and seem to be getting stronger every day. During my three weeks' use of the compound, pains and weaknesses of many years standing disappeared almost magically. Today I am as vigorous and supple as I was in the prime of life. When I began using the compound, my memory was virtually gone and I was almost blind. Now my mind is clear and active and I can read the finest print without difficulty."

The compound is prepared in convenient tablets, so it can be used at home by any one. It contains no "dope" or violent drugs, yet it is regarded as one of the quickest invigorators ever discovered. Acting directly on lower spinal nerve centers and certain glands and blood vessels, it sometimes produces amazing benefits in 24 to 36 hours, according to users.

"It is wonderful," writes a resident of Hollister, Cal. "In less than 24 hours you can feel it does the work. It makes one feel young as a young man. I am more than happy and glad I tried it." Another Californian says: "The compound is a world's wonder. I feel like I was about 25 and here I am nearly fifty."

The compound has been tested in all parts of the country and has won the praises of thousands who suffered from nerve weakness, lost or depleted vigor, neurasthenia, premature age.

STATE SEEKING UNIFORM LAWS TO REGULATE DRIVING

Problem Of Safeguarding Drivers Is Getting Lawmakers' Attention

With the annual summary of summer accidents comes another concerted move for the adoption of safety measures throughout the country. What can't be effected through legislation is being advocated through education.

Thus we get the American Automobile association and its member organizations encouraging the adoption of uniform traffic legislation in all the states, so that auto accidents may be further reduced. At the same time states are passing all sorts of laws enforcing caution among auto drivers.

Three states have gone so far as to compel motorists to come to a complete stop before crossing railroad tracks. They are Virginia, North Carolina and California, although the California law applies only to motor buses and trucks carrying inflammable or explosive material.

STATES UNITE
What other states haven't accomplished toward stopping railroad crossing accidents, safety organizations and large businesses have been doing. For instance, the Standard Oil Company of Indiana has pledged its 8,500 drivers to come to a full stop at railroad crossings. And this is one of many firms that have taken similar action.

But railroad crossing safety is only a detail of a lengthy program for accident prevention throughout the country. City traffic is the greatest problem presented to the state authorities. And to solve it, some of the states have formed a so-called "conference" of motor vehicle administrators with the main purpose of attaining uniformity in motor vehicle legislation.

This conference includes the ten states consisting of New England, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Maryland and Ohio. In its desire for uniform auto laws, the conference already has brought this about in the matter of headlights, especially, and in other features.

HAND SIGNALS
Safety organizations are now trying to produce uniformity in safety laws throughout these states and the rest of the country. For example, the Cleveland Safety Council is trying to promulgate a system of hand signaling for general adoption in all parts of the United States. Its sponsors say it is the simplest form of signaling the man behind what you are going to do, and can easily be recommended for use by all drivers.

At the same time the American Automobile association, the National Motorists' association and other similar organizations are seeking uniformity of state auto laws, not only from a safety angle but for the general benefit of drivers. As Major Roy Britton, chairman of the legislative board of the A. A. A., puts it: "The adoption of a uniform code of regulations would not only reduce the hazard of driving along our streets and highways through a common understanding of just what the regulations are, but would make their enforcement easier."

PREVENT SPREAD OF HOG CHOLERA HERE

Hog cholera, which made its appearance two weeks ago on John Weber's farm on the sugar-ard, is still confined to that farm and there is now very little danger of it spreading to adjoining farms. The greater part of the herd has been wiped out by the disease and the remaining portion has been vaccinated. Every possible precaution has been taken to confine the disease to the Weber farm.

An outbreak of hog cholera in Rock-wood, the first in several months, has just been reported by Dr. J. T. Purcell, state and federal veterinarian working in cooperation with the department of agriculture at Madison, who was called to Appleton when the disease made its appearance on the Weber farm.

KAUKAUNA MAN PAYS FINE IN OSHKOSH

Morris Leahr, Kaukauna, was paroled from $100 in municipal court in Oshkosh on Tuesday when he entered a plea of guilty to a charge of transporting intoxicating liquor. Leahr was arrested Sunday night at a roadhouse north of Kaukauna and was instructed to appear in Oshkosh on Monday but he failed to do so. He was taken into court the next day, however and fined $100 and costs.

Adolph Werner, an Oshkosh man convicted of violating the prohibition law was sentenced to pay a fine of $500 and spend six months in jail. He will spend another four months in jail if the $500 is not paid at the expiration of the six months term.

CARRY LIGHTS OR

SHERIFF WARNS

Pedestrians In Grave Danger If They Walk On Concrete
At Night

Warning has been issued by Sheriff Otto H. Zuehlke against the extremely great risk of walking, riding or driving on public highways without lights. A number of accidents have occurred on highways of this county through the failure of drivers to use lights on their vehicles.

To make night driving safe and to protect their own lives Sheriff Zuehlke urges pedestrians, cyclists and drivers of horse drawn vehicles using the concrete highways by night to carry lanterns. If they do not carry lights, he said, it is much safer both for them as well as for motorists, to stay off the concrete.

Motorists have complained frequently and Sheriff Zuehlke has himself observed that many persons expose themselves to danger by not only failing to carry lights but by refusing to get off the concrete to give way to automobiles.

Pedestrians may perhaps be seen by the motorist, if he is the only car on the road, but if he is being met by another car, a shadow is cast and this shadow may completely hide the pedestrians until it is too late to avoid striking them, the sheriff said.

Appleton Women Like Their Fags But They Don't Buy Them Here

Yes, Appleton women smoke, but—mean closer, this is the choice part of the gossip they do not buy their cigarettes here. But—Oh, that isn't all of it, my dear! lots of Oshkosh and Green Bay girls buy as many as three packages when they go through here by car. Where do you suppose that the Appleton girls go? Not often to the drug stores? Not often to the hotels? Not often to the—pool-shacks?

Oh yes, some girls do go to the pool-shacks (whatever is this world coming to) but as we said before, they are not the girls from Appleton. There is one consoling thought for those who are sure that the world is going straight to the bew wows. Cigarette sellers think that there is less smoking among women now than there was two years ago, but tell that to a dapper college boy and see him smile his rather broad smile which is almost a grin.

FADS IN FAGS

Just in case there are some girls in this city who are interested in fads in cigarettes as they interest women in other places, there are some kinds that are favorites. And what do you suppose has happened? The most artistic cigarette on the market, done in black paper with gold tips with the brand of cigarette printed in lovely old English gold letters on it, is made so strong that unless you are an inveterate smoker, you will find the weed too strong. Of course, you girls will be awfully unfair if you go out and try them because your mother will blame it all on me.

"Yes, yes, go on about the favorite," you say? Well, if you really want to know, the women who buy cigarettes in Appleton (not our own girls you know, but the others) buy—oh dear, I hate to tell you because it really isn't very womanly and men do not like it if women aren't sweet and dainty. Well, they buy Camel and Lucky Strikes, just like the men go. Especially the women who stay in the hotels and smoke in their rooms (yes, that is done quite consistently and perhaps one might say every night in one of the hotels or

APPLETON IS LEADER IN PURCHASE OF U. S. NOTES

Appleton again not only leads all cities of 20,000 to 30,000 population, but all other cities in Wisconsin except Milwaukee and Oshkosh in the amount of United States treasury savings certificates sold. The Appleton postoffice in the seven months from Jan. 1 to July 31 sold $53,197 in certificates, while the Oshkosh office sold $64,431. The value of the savings certificates is evidently recognized more in Appleton than by the residents of larger cities, such as Green Bay, Madison, Sheboygan, Kenosha and Racine.

WANDERING DAUGHTER

To make this picture dealing with runaway girls entertaining and thoroughly pleasing without being too critical, too preachy or using ruse scenes to illustrate the author's thoughts, is no easy task for any director, but in "Wandering Daughters," a First National attraction showing at the Elite theatre today Friday and Saturday, James Young, who directed Guy Bates Post's two initial screen successes, "The Masquerader" and "Omar the Tentmaker," has accomplished the feat with unusual grace.

"Wandering Daughters" deals with exactly what its title suggests, but Dana Burnett, its author, had a number of unique and original sequences to put into the story and Director Young not only seemingly has taken full advantage of the story's possibilities, but has also used his broad knowledge of screen technique and public interest to develop many scenes just about as entertainingly as one could reasonably expect.

Marguerite de La Motte and Marjorie Daw, two beautiful young players of interesting contrast in type, have been given the principal girl roles in the picture and acquit themselves creditably. The usually quiet, frightened little Marjorie turns out to be a gay young miss with a will of her own while Marguerite adds charm to the part of the girl who had will power enough to withstand life's tempting adventures.

Unquestionably first honors among the men should go to William F. Mong as the father whose faith in his daughter is well rewarded. His part affords the best chances for a display of rare emotions and Mr. Mong delivers his usual sterling performance. Noah Beery, ever a delightful villain, creates sympathy for his part of the father who meant to shield his daughter by his despotic control of her social life and failed to do so. Allen Forrest as the male vamp reminds one of Lew Cody, so perfect is his decadent. Alice Howell, formerly comedy star, and several other players well known to screen fans, lend their energies to making "Wandering Daughters" one of the picture play events of the current season.

Flappers and the jazz age have provided interesting themes for a number of entertaining photoplays recently, but it has remained for James Young, First National picture director to bring out one that passes over the usual ruts and usual preachiness and delivers a powerful message in a most captivating manner. Mr. Young's play bears the title "Wandering Daughters" and has been enthusiastically greeted by the most discriminating patrons of the Elite theatre, where it is now being shown.

another) smoke the well known brands. Some women prefer the cork tipped ones, Pat Mals being quite a favorite with English Ovals for those who like them stronger (and then, the artistic ones are bound to be popular though strong). Egyptian Dieties come in ladies' size and Millo Violets are always popular with those just starting in. There are some more interesting ones which are hand made, wrapped in tin foil each one and are generally genteel looking if expensive. Yes, monograms would be popular but few women want to buy 1.00 at a time. They are really not that wicked yet.

But going back a long ways in time to pick up the story at the place where hotels were mentioned, did you know that women have smoked in public places in this city? You didn't see them? (Neither did I.)

It was just a few weeks ago that two couples came into the dining room of one of the hotels and all four of them smoked! The head waitress was alarmed because there was no precedent; it had never been done before but they were not put out of the place. There are no rules against it in hotel dining rooms, it would seem, upon investigation, but in a small town like Appleton, it is discouraged and frowned down upon, of course. It naturally would be, of course.

"Any more?" you ask. Oh no, not especially, nothing very shocking. One of the college boys told me that during the summer the smoking in Appleton declined about 75 per cent. He said it was due to pick up again in a couple of weeks, but he wouldn't explain. What did he mean? No, nothing else, at least nothing very shocking.

Expect 5,500 Students In City Schools When New Term Opens Tuesday

Buildings Are Ready To Receive Largest Enrollment In City's History—Many Minor Improvements During Summer

When Appleton high school opens Tuesday morning the halls will resound with the sound of nearly 1100 voices if the expectations of Lee C. Rasey, principal are fulfilled. Last year the enrollment was 1,102 and this year it is expected to be considerably larger. Preparations were made during the summer to arrange the opening of school in such a manner that classes will open the first day without confusion. During this entire week several persons are busy in the principal's office making final arrangements.

General repairs were made in the building and a better lighting system was installed in the assembly room and in a number of the recitation rooms. This last improvement was much needed as in most of the rooms the lighting has been extremely poor. Two hundred new lockers have been placed in the building to accommodate the additional students.

The faculty of the high school will include 45 teachers, 10 of whom will be newcomers. Nearly one third of the teachers have been attending a summer course at one of the universities or normal schools which indicates an exceptionally fine preparation for teaching this fall.

EXPECT 600 PUPILS
It is expected that about 600 students will be enrolled Tuesday at the First ward school, which is an increase of about 40 over the enrollment last year. There will be 22 teachers, three of whom are new on the faculty. Ten of the teachers attended summer sessions at Oshkosh normal, Madison, Columbia and Chicago universities during the summer.

Improvement on the playgrounds probably was the most important work done at the school during the summer. There was some redecorating, plastering and painting. The buildings, of course, have been thoroughly cleaned to be fresh for the new year.

Ben Rohan, principal of the Second District Schools reports a probable enrollment of 800 pupils in the schools of his district. About 250 children will be enrolled in Franklin and Columbus schools and the remaining 550 in Lincoln school. Thirty-two teachers form the faculty for the district.

In Lincoln school the entire upper corridor has been refurnished and with the general cleaning which has been given all the schools, the whole building looks fresh. New radiators have been installed and complete sets of blocks have been added to the kindergarten supplies of all three buildings. Individual cars have been built in the kindergarten room of the Columbus school in which the children may keep their materials. The kindergarten tables have been refurnished and other minor repairs were made. Lighting improvements have been made in the whole district.

800 IN THIRD DISTRICT
The enrollment in the Third district will total more than 800 pupils. In the Washington school the first and second grade rooms have been redecorated and also the kindergarten room. The seventh and eighth grade rooms in the Washington school have been slightly enlarged.

Readjustment of seats has taken place in both buildings and the usual summer repainting has been done which makes the schools habitable for another year. Otherwise little actual repair work has been necessary. The faculty will consist of 25 teachers, including several new members in the second and third grades. Although a great many children in the Fourth district will enter parochial schools on Tuesday it is probable that 300 pupils will enroll in the Fourth ward and Richmond schools. Fifteen teachers will have positions in the schools this year including four new ones. Dr. Earl Baker of Lawrence Conservatory of Music will have charge of the music in the school. More changes were made in the Richmond school during the summer than in the main building. The upper floor has been converted into one room and redecorated completely. The heating plant is at present being overhauled and will be partially new. Some new playground equipment has been added.

A number of the rooms in the fourth ward school have been refurnished and minor repairs were made about the entire building. Both schools will open with the new folding window shades which have been recommended for schools by the state department.

Of the parochial schools St. Joseph's reports the largest probable enrollment which is 120, a few more than last year. In the building the boys classrooms have been refurnished with single desks. Heretofore double desks have been used. New blackboards also have been added.

St. Mary school possibly will have 160 children and Sacred Heart school 240. The only improvement at Sacred Heart school has been the work on the playground. At St. Mary school no improvements were considered imperative.

At Zion school more than 160 students will enroll at a building which has been completely cleaned and oiled. The corridors and stairways have been refurnished and the floors throughout the building have had the necessary retouching and oiling. The playground also has been improved. Four teachers will have charge of the work at the school two of whom will be new.

No information concerning St. Paul school was available.

It is probably harder to estimate the possible enrollment at the Vocational school than any of the others for much depends on the number of

Build For the Future With Concrete

A few simple instructions are all you need to build anything from a feed box to a garage or a cyclone cellar. Porches, steps, walks, benches, flower boxes, and hundreds of other things can be made easily and perfectly at home. The process is simple. The results will last a century.

He lifted both arms as he spoke, apparently in accordance with Hewitt's request, and at that moment the Commissioner felt himself plucked securely from behind. So suddenly and cleverly conceived was the attack that the Englishman was overpowered without a struggle, bound hand and foot with leathern thongs swiftly and securely knotted. And, as he lay helpless at the bandit's feet, Chai-Hung signalled for the stool of carved blackwood that still remained outside his temporary resting-place.

"I am going to take you into my confidence, Mr. Commissioner," he said. "I am a desperate man, driven by your agents into a corner, forced to suffer privations that do not at all agree with a man of my habits. I am ill, as you see, but I am going to recover. My wings have been clipped, but they will grow again. The Chinese Dragon, Captain Hewitt, is many-headed—and each head has a fang. The corners of his evil mouth turned down. 'Have you ever heard of a sixth sense?'—a mysterious intuition that indicates when one is being spied upon—I felt the promptings of that sense—last night. The man they call 'He Who Sees in the Dark' came to my house and you will understand me fully when I tell you that I returned the call. The man who brought this Pennington to me—I have dealt with. I have put out my eyes, so that he will never see again; I have removed his fingers, so that he may never point out the way. There are only three people in existence who stand between Chai-Hung and the freedom of movement he desires. You know them all, Captain Hewitt. There is Chinese Pennington, your sister—and yourself. Now, observe how cleverly I have separated them. You are already in my power. Pennington is waiting for nightfall—down by the sage-swamp, and Mrs. Viney is alone in Dawson's bungalow—alone, because I have arranged that Dawson shall be kept away until I think it fit for him to return."

He paused for a moment and a preposterously exaggerated frown pointed toward the Commissioner. "Each shall perish in his turn, and each in a different manner, am reserving you for the last, because I should like you to live long enough to realize the power of Chai-Hung, the inevitable triumph of the Yellow Seven. I think I can safely assure you that you will not have to wait long."

He reached for a branch and pulling himself to his feet, went slowly back to the hut. A hunch-backed coo following him with the stool. Hewitt, a prey to a host of unpleasant reflections, tore feebly at the thongs that held him. A sudden movement in his immediate vicinity caused him to jerk his head painfully round. He saw a short, thick-set Oriental with a parang hung from his waist, leaning truculently against the jack-fruit-tree.

"You will remember me, oh Englishman," said the sentry grimly. "I am Lai-Ho, that was the servant of my Lord. It would be better perhaps to remain still."

It was more than an hour before Chai-Hung returned. He was superbly clad in a mandarin jacket of blue embroidered with silver dragons and the dwarf followed at a discreet interval, carrying a red umbrella and a Chinese tea-pot in a nickel case that resembled a biscuit-barrel. "I am on my way to take tea with your sister, Captain Hewitt," he purred maliciously. "Exercising my customary caution—I am taking my own tea!"

Quite apart from the imminent risks that threatened her lover Monica—although she would never have acknowledged it, was desperately curious to know how the duel between Pennington and Chai-Hung would end.

From the moment she had left the little, ramshackle train to accompany her brother to Dawson's bungalow, she had become haunted with a vague, indefinite fear that she was being followed. She had confided her fears to the Commissioner, but Hewitt, seeing in this sudden conviction still another symptom of the nervous trouble he had already noticed, had not expressed surprise.

"One gets odd notions in these parts," he told her easily. "It's that same queer restlessness you hear among the trees that gives rise to hosts of native superstitions."

The explanation had sounded logical.

BoxingMarty Lamers To Pitch
For Appleton In First
Game With Twins HereThree League Leaders Race
Neck And Neck In Battle For
Pennant, With Green Bay
And Kaukauna Close

Appleton, Neenah-Menasha, and Sheboygan are engaged in one of the closest pennant races of Fox river valley baseball history. All three clubs are playing consistent ball. First the Chairs were on top, then the Falls, and now the Papermakers, who will have to fight hard Sunday to maintain their attic berth. Kaukauna and Green Bay are by no means out of the running either, although their chances of winning the race are rather remote. The three contenders, Oshkosh, Fond du Lac, and Marinette-Menominee, are staking a little fight of their own to avoid ending up in the cellar. If they had played as well earlier in the year as they have been recently, their records might have been better now.

MARTY LAMERS IN BOX
Monday will be a hard day for the Papermakers, for they are scheduled to play the Twins one game in the morning and another in the afternoon. The morning game will start at 10 o'clock. According to Sylvester's present plans, Marty Lamers will occupy the mound against Hank Schultz in the first contest, while Lathrop will oppose him in the afternoon, when the game is called at 2:45. When Schultz is going right, he is hard to beat, but whether he can last out two games in the box against such heavy hitters as the Appleton club boasts is doubtful, in spite of his reputation as the State league's "Iron Man." With Marty Lamers pitching against the veteran Hank, the Twins have an even chance to win one of their contests here as far as pitching is concerned, but if the Papermakers keep up their remarkable fielding, Bresnahan's clan will have to go some to win no matter how often they connect with Marty's offerings.

Champ Deguire Says
His Ambition Is To Get Into "Pro" Golf

Riverview Country Club's Chief
Caddy Has Been Playing
Game Since He's Big Enough
To Handle Stick

When Frank "Bobby" DeGuire won the caddy's state championship Tuesday, he took a long step toward the attainment of his lifelong ambition, which is to become a professional golfer and get him a job coaching beginners. Bobby has been working hard at his favorite game ever since he was big enough to carry a bag over the course. He is 15 years old now, and has been caddying at the Riverview Country club course for more than five years. He took to the game like the proverbial duck to water from the time he first swung at the rubber ball, and although he had some trouble at first in negotiating his clubs, which were longer than himself, he kept at it, and his perseverance was rewarded. Bobby shoots his nine holes on the home course in 35 as a rule, and made the eighteen holes of the Grant park course at Milwaukee, which he had never seen before, in 50-55-75. He outplayed his rivals in every phase of the game. His drives were all a few yards longer than the other budding golf stars, he hardly ever missed a putt, and his play on the approaches was almost without a flaw.

Until he has reached the age of 15, Bobby intends to hold his present place with the Riverview club in the summer, while in the winter he plans on attending business college to learn typewriting, shorthand, and bookkeeping. Next year he says he will be open for an engagement as professional instructor to any club that wants him, but as he knows most of the golfers of the Fox River valley, he'd like to settle down in this neighborhood.

COLONEL DRIVER WILL HELP WISCONSIN COACH

By Associated Press
Madison—Lieutenant Colonel Earl S. Driver, for a number of years as assistant adjutant general of Wisconsin will retire Sept. 1, according to an announcement from the office of the adjutant general. He will take up a position on the coaching staff at the University of Wisconsin.

Lieutenant Colonel Driver, a former Wisconsin football player, has assisted in coaching the "Big Ten" freshman team through a number of seasons. He now is to aid Coach Kean with the training of the varsity.

He is to be made in some places by means of an electric fan, which drives the steam as fast as the cut.

Phil of a trap building is one of the most important of an arch in thick woods.

In the matter of the play third after third, the manager gave the umpire the right to take on his knee and Smith was a remarkably thorough for the day. Jones merely beat the umpire of Smith, even though the umpire was notified of the change. The two runs scored.

LOCAL FIGHT PLANS
SPOILED BY SEPT. 14
CARD AT FOND DU LAC

"Gunner" Joe Quinn, Now In Canada, May Battle Here
In October

Elmer Johnston, Appleton boxing promoter, has been scouting around for some weeks on the lookout for promising fighters whom he wishes to card for bouts he had planned for next month, but owing to the fact that Fond du Lac has already completed arrangements with several local boxers to battle there Sept. 14, he has been unable to secure their services. Therefore he has changed his plans and probably will arrange an exhibition here in October.

Johnston intended to bring "Gunner" Joe Quinn, now in Saskatchewan, here for a bout with some other prominent fighter, but that plan was shattered when the puss demanded more than the entire gate would amount to. Reports from Canada indicate the Gunner is going stronger than ever. Some weeks ago he defeated Jack Reddick, one of the best lightweightweights of Canada, and more recently won a decision over another prominent boxer, Mark Moore, on a foul at Moosejaw, Quinn, according to reports, had the fight won in the seventh when he was unintentionally fouled, but has been rematched with the same boxer, whom he is to meet this week. Johnston hopes to induce the Gunner to give Appleton fight fans a chance to see him in action again in October when the next card probably will be arranged.

WIREMEN INVADE
ALGOMA ON SUNDAY

McCormack Seeks Games With Any Strong Team In State
On Open Dates

McCormack's Wisconsin Telephone team has arranged to play Algoma, in the Cherry League, Sunday afternoon at Algoma. The team finished third in the league race, and according to all accounts, made a wonderful showing during the entire season. McCormack's tribe has been winning almost every game of late. Walton, the new catcher who formerly played with an amateur team at Deuster, Ill., proved to be a valuable asset last Sunday at Berlin.

McCormack is looking for contests with some of the strongest teams of the state, and is ready to take on any club willing to play his outfit on open dates. He wants games with some of the State league clubs in the near future.

MAYEFSKIS MEET
NEWMANS SUNDAY
FOR THIRD TIME

Two Local Amateur Teams Retain Old Lineups Despite
Other Reports

Mayefski's club of the Home Players league and the Appleton Rivals clash for the third time this season at Interlake park Sunday. The Rivals lost every game with the Regulars so far. Their chief fault appeared to be carelessness after they got away to a good start in at least two of the contests. The report that Ashman, the Rivals' pitcher, had deserted to the Rivals, is unfounded. Furthermore, Walton, the new catcher who had promised to take his place with the Rivals last Sunday changed his mind Saturday afternoon and decided to play with the Wisconsin Telephone Company team against Berlin.

Neither of the two local Amateur clubs are planning further changes in their lineups.

choose before dropping the ball, while B insisted certain restrictions existed. Who is right?

A is correct in his contention. A player has the right to go as far back as he pleases, even to the tee line ground, provided he keep the place where the ball crossed the margin of the hazard between himself and the hole in dropping the ball.

Player tees up his ball, assumes his stance and then starts his swing, while making the downward swing, with the intention of hitting the ball, the club head parted from the shaft and struck the ground behind the ball, same remaining unmolested on the tee. Is such a happening regarded as purely accidental or is it a stroke?

According to fair play it would seem that the happening should be regarded as an accident. However, according to a strict interpretation of the rules it is regarded as a stroke. Several years ago in a big tournament such a thing actually happened and the committee in charge ruled it a stroke, thereby setting a precedent founded on rule.

Player while walking backward on the putting green accidentally knocks his ball from its position, an advantageous one very close to the cup. Has the player the right to replace the ball as near as possible to its original position? Does the player suffer any penalty for coming into contact with the ball in the manner described?

When a player so moves his ball by coming into contact with it, he must play it from the spot to which it has been moved. Player suffers a stroke penalty for moving his ball.

In driving from the tee, player apparently gets away a long ball, only to have it strike a forecaddie and be deflected into a very bad lie. What are the rights of the player in such a case?

The happening is merely regarded as a rub of the green, in other words, a tough break, and the ball shall be played from the spot where it lies.

Gridiron Rules Change
Little For Next Season

Milwaukee — The changes in the football rules as published in the Spalding Football Guide are as follows:

In Rule III, Section 2, which relates to substitution, there has been a slight expansion in the working for the purpose of making the intent of the rule less likely to misinterpretation, and the same is true in Section 3. In Rule IV, Section 1, a paragraph has been added that provides a penalty against the team which deliberately delays the start of a game. The wording of Section 4 has been altered in order to make it clear that after a fair catch made at the expiration of the subsequent play resulting from that kick until the ball is declared dead by the referee; and also that the time-out is allowed if the touch-down is made just as time has expired.

In Rule VII, Section 1 has been made a little clearer, and the same is true of Section 13 (d) of the same rule and of Section 15 (b), second paragraph, relating to safety.

In Rule VII, Section 2 relating to a kickoff crossing the goal line and then going out of bounds, the approved ruling that the ball is still in play and a touchdown possible, has been incorporated; subject, of course, to the Approved Ground Rules.

In Rule IX, Section 1, third paragraph, the position of players on and behind the line of scrimmage has been more thoroughly amplified in the interest of officials, and the same is true in Section 5 of the same rule relating to players in motion.

Changes in wording have been made in Rule X (a), (b) and (c), neither of which, however, alters the accepted understanding of the play.

Rule XIV, Section 1, has been slightly altered in order to make clear that neither side, may attempt to extend the privilege of "time out."

Rule XV, Section 5, has been reworded in order to make clear the

Dundee Confident He Will Defeat Leonard

BY BOB DORMAN

Orange, N. J.—Johnnie Dundee is working harder at his training now than he ever worked before.

Not even the licks he put in when he was getting ready for Criqui equaled the work he is now doing in preparation for his bout with Benny Leonard.

Dundee is smart enough to know that the stories that have been printed about Leonard's weight (which stories have been attributed to him) have only served to make the lightweight champion furious.

He knows that Leonard, despite the fact that he was in the best of shape of his career when he met Lew Teller a few weeks ago, is going at it more strenuous than ever. In order to be in the best possible condition, so that he may eliminate Dundee once and for all.

Yet Dundee does not show any signs of nervousness.

With a wad of chewing gum stuck away in his mouth, he calmly goes through his daily stunts.

"Why should I worry?" he asks. "I have faced Leonard in the ring eight times, and he never has been able to more than shade me.

"And in those fights he never had to make weight for me.

"I believe that if he makes the lightweight limit this time that I will be able to get the decision over him, the same as I got it over Criqui.

"I have always wanted to hold the two titles and always some misfortune or other has intervened to prevent me from even winning one. But now my luck has changed, and with the featherweight crown in my possession, I feel sure that my other ambition is to be realized. I'm confident I'll win the lightweight champions'hip."
